We know that prescription labels can be difficult to read—there’s a lot of information in a limited space. Here is a sample of the Humana Pharmacy label:

Label Glossary

Drug Name & Strength: The name and strength of the medicine that was prescribed.

Substituted For: The brand name of the generic will be shown, if applicable.

Instructions Box: Any instructions written by the prescriber are shown in the box.

Drug ID: This is a description of the appearance of the medicine.

Rx Number: Use this Rx Number to order refills.

Quantity: The quantity of the medicine that was dispensed.

Drug Information: This section will show any applicable precautions.

Refill Explanation: New prescription labels will show how many refills you have until the expiration of your prescription. The number of refills will be reduced each time your medication is filled. Your last prescription label will show “No Refills Remain”. At this time, you or your provider will need to submit a new prescription.

Discard Date: The date shown is the expiration of the medicine, and when it should be discarded.

Prescriber: The name of the prescriber will be listed under the refills remaining.
